RESEARCH / INCOME GENERATING ACTIVITY

I have been an active researcher since 1992 following completion of my PhD in 1991. This is evidenced in a number of ways summarised in the bullet points below:

- In the area of Domestic and Family Violence a Research Alliance has now been formally established at University of Melbourne, co-directed by Professor Kelsey Hegarty and Cathy Humphreys
- In my position as Alfred Felton Chair of Child and Family Social Work a Research Program has been established in the children, youth and families and the domestic violence area. Almost $5 million worth of funding has been attracted through grants and tenders associated with 30 different projects of different sizes and with different organisations.
- Of the grants attracted since 2006, 12 have been Category 1 grants (7 ARC Linkage; 2 Discovery; 1 NHMRC, 2 ANROWS).
- The Alfred Felton Chair of Child and Family Welfare was established in 2006 and funded for 5 years by the Alfred Felton Trust. It was then taken up as a continuing position from University of Melbourne and part funded for another 3 years by a consortium of 14 community sector organisation through the umbrella of the Centre for Excellence in Child and Family Welfare (The Sector Research Partnership).
- A consortium with Latrobe University and University of Melbourne Social Work Schools successfully tendered for the delivery of the Graduate Diploma in Child and Family Leadership and the Graduate Certificate in Child and Family Practice which has been developed and supported by DHS and is now in its 3rd presentation. As Professor Social Work, I led the University of Melbourne bid.

- A 'Research into Action' project based with the Centre for Excellence in Child and Family Social Welfare and established with assistance from funding from the Telstra Foundation employed a knowledge broker 2007-2009
- Active development of the research associated with the Professor of Social Work is occurring across 2 major strands of work: domestic and family violence and child abuse; and stability and quality in out of home care.
- I have been invited to be a distinguished visitor at: Aston University, Birmingham in 2006; University of Central England, Preston, 2013.
- In the UK, I was Director of a research centre, The Centre for Safety and Well-Being (SWELL). This centre specialized in developing research which has an overarching interest in social justice and social divisions and takes a critical approach to policy and practice with children, young people, families, abused women and perpetrators. It applies feminist, child-centred, youth-centred and anti-oppressive understandings to relevant areas of research and theory. Many of the current projects relate to violence against women, children's rights and child prevention programmes.
- My research is applied and aims to inform policy and advocacy initiatives within the sector. This is evidenced through publications in professional and peer review journals, policy briefings and the extensive invitations I have to international, national and regional conferences.
- I was Associate Editor for Child and Family Social Work (2008-2013), and regularly review articles for Australian and International journals. I have been a member of the Editorial Board of Child Abuse Review and Journal of Health and Social Care in the Community

PUBLICATIONS

In keeping with the applied nature of my work, I have developed a deliberate publication strategy to link my research to the practice and policy framework in which the research is situated. Publications therefore include not only research reports/monographs and refereed journal articles but also professional journal articles, accessible, short publications (for example briefing papers, research summaries, pamphlets, websites) and conference papers.
