> I felt as if the Gestapo had taken over when I got the following sms [REDACTED] years ago:
> " The keys to the apartment have been changed and your security units disconnected.
Advise in writing of items you wish to pickup. I will pack them carefully and leave them with building manager at agreed times. Pls forward use instructions for clothes washer/dryer, hotplate and dishwasher asap. "
> We had just planned a cruise as we are retired. That sms stunned me. I haven't even seen inside the family home since then.
> There is shelter for dumped dogs, but not enough shelters for unprepared dumped women. The police told me that lockouts were not illegal. The DHS had no support either.
They classified me as a widow. There is no free service for counselling.
> I hope the planned Royal Commission into Domestic Violence addresses this issue.
There is a big spectrum of abandoned relatives, not only children. Police must be allowed to help.
> Its taken 3 sets of lawyers and [REDACTED] years to get a final Family court hearing date set. He can afford the bills as assets of [REDACTED] year marriage are in his name. I, as the victim, am the underdog.
